REMOTE-DIRECTED MANAGEMENT OF MEDIA CONTENT

ABSTRACT

A remote media player and methods for managing content. The media player

5   includes storage to store content files. A user interface allows the user to make content selections. The content selections are used with a content database to manage the relationships between the selections and the content files. The player also includes a processor to perform organization tasks on the content files based upon the content selections.

10